

The company

BALLIAN TECHNIKI was founded in 1970 by Pavlos Ballian, providing design, construction and technical consulting services to clients in both the public and the private sector.

Many of the clients from that period continue to collaborate with us to this day, a fact that speaks to our expertise, our flexibility and our emphasis on building long lasting professional relationships.

With the addition of Thanos Ballian, Loukianos Tiktopoulos and a growing team of experienced collaborators, the company continued its expansion, reaching the point of being considered one of the most reliable and sought after construction companies in the country.

Today, Ballian Techniki S.A. relies on a dynamic, highly motivated and committed team of professionals to provide top level project management and design services, as well as integrated architectural, civil and electromechanical constructions for private sector clients. Our area of expertise ranges from large industrial projects, office buildings and large hotel complexes to high quality residential and retail projects.

Outside Greece, our company has undertaken construction projects in France, Cyprus, Bulgaria and Romania.
